Today's post on this Saturday is to share the creativity of Recycling Bill Enclosure Envelopes Stationery.

Thank you to Debbie, of My Three Muses, here at AnchoredScraps who mailed a letter to me this week. She used an envelope that had been included in a bill envelope. With her fold-over style letter she wrote my address so it would show up in the see through window of the envelope! By adding stamps, and putting some extra stickers it was a unique and fun letter to receive.

The thing that did help was she put a sticker right next to my name on the address, and outside on the envelope – so that I did not immediately think it was junk mail!

I'm on a different laptop right now without my editing software so I will post it once available.

So the next time you find yourself going through the mail and about to toss that extra envelope included with an invoice, save it and use it for DIY see through window envelope stationery.

Thank you again to Debbie for sharing her creativity. Happy Saturday!

Anchors Aweigh,
Helen
